Delete Candidate Home Account

If you wish to delete your account and job application history, you can initiate a request to 'Delete My Information' from within Account Settings. TD will review requests relative to legal and regulatory requirements that TD must comply with and will perform the deletion if no such constraints exist. US applicants should be aware that TD is required to retain all applications for up to 3 years.

The screenshot shows the 'Account Settings' page. On the left sidebar, there are two links: 'Change Email' and 'Delete My Information'. The 'Delete My Information' link is highlighted with a red rectangular box. The main content area on the right contains the following text:

By clicking "Delete my Information" below, you are requesting that TD permanently remove all personal information including name, contact information, personal information and sensitive job application data. Your information is not automatically deleted by virtue of clicking "Delete my Information". TD will contact you if there are further questions about your request.

Please note that a deletion of your information from the TD system will mean that you will not be able to log back into your account.

At the bottom right of the main content area, there is a green button labeled 'Delete My Information'.
